DESCRIPTION	Mepitac is Ideal for taping lavaliers onto talent. It is a highly conformable fabric-backed tape that is easy to apply and remove. Features gentle removal from skin and body hair. Also, Mepitac can be lifted and re-applied.	Kinesio Tape works much like Moleskin. However, because the fabric is breathable and water-resistant, it is ideal for talent in extreme action situations.	Tegaderm is also ideal for high action settings. Can be cut to size. Gentle on the skin. Allows moisture out and oxygen in for breathability. Flexes and moves with body for greater comfort.	3M Nexcare Waterproof First Aid Tape is made of soft, conforming foam material that stretches with your body. Popular choice to use when miking talent.	Moleskin and Molefoam Padding are often used to mount vampire clips without piercing clothing. Sink the teeth into the padding and use Superstick to mount to clothing.	Transpore is a latex-free, transparent and perforated plastic tape. Breathes very well. It is easy to tear into thin strips, even with gloves. The most commonly used medical tape.	Blenderm flexes and stretches to conform to movement. It has a smoother surface than Transpore Tape, and is a bit quieter under clothing.	Durapore is a “silk-like” latex-free, high strength adhesive tape. Tears easily both ways. It adheres well to dry skin. Great for securing lavs.
